

List of Contributors

Sally A. Brown is Elizabeth M. Engle Professor of Preaching and Worship, Emerita, Princeton Theological Seminary. Having served as president of the Academy of Homiletics in 2019, she is retired since December 2022 and now preaches in local churches, teaches adult education classes, and works with local pastors to hone their homiletical skills addressing racism from the pulpit in deeply divided rural and suburban congregations. Her book Sunday's Sermon for Monday's World: Preaching to Shape Daring Witness was published by Eerdmans in 2020. sally.brown@ptsem.edu

Heather E. Deal is Assistant Professor of Social Work at Binghamton University. Her recent article, "Have you developed your theology of social justice? Theological foundations to sustain your social justice work," was published in Social Work & Christianity. hdeal@binghamton.edu

Kenyatta R. Gilbert serves as Dean and Professor of Homiletics at the Howard University School of Divinity. A nationally recognized scholar of African American preaching, he is the author of Exodus Preaching, A Pursued Justice, and The Journey and Promise of African American Preaching. Dr. Gilbert also directs the Preaching Project Initiative at Howard University and is a member of the editorial board of Homiletic. kengilbert@howard.edu

Amanda Wilson Harper is Assistant Professor of Social Work at Tarleton State University. Her recent articles include "Yes, And: Expanding the Ways that Churches Respond to a Climate-Changed World," co-written with Benjamin Yosua-Davis and Leah D. Schade in Religions, and "Preaching on LGBTQ+ Topics and Threats of Violence: An Exploration of Associations," co-written with John Willis Ward and Leah D. Schade in Pastoral Psychology. wilsonharper@tarleton.edu

HyeRan Kim-Cragg is Principal and Professor of Preaching at Emmanuel College. She serves on the executive committee and as one of the co-convenors of the "Preaching, Environment, and Climate Crisis" workgroup of the Academy of Homiletics. Her recent publications include Moments in Time: Sermons from The United Church of Canada: 1910-2020 (UCPH, 2024), and "Earth-Bound Preaching: Engaging Scripture, Context, and Indigenous Wisdom" (Religions, 2024). hyeran.kimcragg@utoronto.ca

Leah D. Schade is Associate Professor of Preaching and Worship at Lexington Theological Seminary and served as president of the Academy of Homiletics in 2024. She is one of the co-directors of the grant, "Assessing Pedagogical Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion in the Academy of Homiletics," funded by the Wabash Center for Teaching and Learning in Theology and Religion. Her most recent publication is Preaching and Social Issues: Tools and Tactics for Empowering Your Prophetic Voice (Rowman & Littlefield, 2025). lschade@lextheo.edu

Wayne Thompson is Emeritus Professor of Sociology at Carthage College. He serves as president of the Wisconsin Sociological Association. In 2024, he wrote a poverty simulation for rural areas, working with the Lac du Flambeau Chippewa tribe and other religious and health organizations. He is co-author of "How Will Preachers Address Social Issues During the 2024